

User manual

Pages

On the landing page all projects are loaded and can be viewed by all. This page is accessed even if the user does not have an account on the site. If a user wants to join a project, they need to log in. Navigation to the login page is done by the button in the far-right corner.

On the landing page all projects can be searched by name or filtered by the industries covered by the website. The former picture shows the filtering, and the second picture shows the search bar.

On the login page a username and a password will be entered to login. There you can also register as a new user.

Roles

There are two different roles on the website. These are normal users and administrators of projects. To become an admin all you need to do is create a project.

User functions

When you are logged in as a normal user you will be able to see all the projects but also see what projects correspond well with your own skills.

On the user page the user can edit their profile information such as picture, name and description. The user page can be reached by clicking the username in the navbar.

Music Project

Exploring the harmonious fusion of diverse sounds and cultures. Our music project is a journey through rhythms, melodies, and emotions that transcend boundaries. Join us as we create and share sonic stories that resonate with the soul.

From the navbar the user can navigate to their “my projects” page where they can see a list of all the projects, they are a member of.
